DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/28/08 has been entered.

Claim(s) 1-3, 6 have been cancelled. Claim(s) 7 has been added. Claim(s) 4-5, 7 are pending. Claim(s) 4-5 have been amended. Claim(s) 4-5, 7 are examined herein.

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but found not persuasive. The rejection(s) of the last Office Action are maintained for reasons of record and modified below as a result of the new claim amendments.

Claim Objections

Claim 4 is objected to because of the following informalities: The claim has been amended in the response filed on 4/28/08, however the caption is still labeled as "original." It is suggested that the claim be labeled "previously amended" in the future. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham vs John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claim(s) 4-5, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Del Soldato et al. (WO 95/30641) in view of Ara et al. ("Cyclooxygenase and lipoxigenase inhibitors in cancer therapy" Prostaglandins, Leukotrienes and Essential Fatty Acids, 1996, 54, 3-16).

The instant claims are directed to a method of treating gastrointestinal tumors by administering a compound of formula I, where X=O, R is subgroup VIA and formula Ia.

Del Soldato et al. disclose cyclooxygenase (COX) inhibitors (pg. 1) of the formula A-X₁-NO₂, where A = R(COX_u)_t and X=O. A preferred compound is where R is formula Ia, where t and u are 1, and R₁ is OCOR₃ in the ortho position, wherein R₃ is methyl and

Art Unit: 1617

R₂ is H. Also, X₁-NO₂ is a 6-membered cycloalkylene, substituted with a nitroxymethyl group at the 3 position (claims).

However, Del Soldato et al. fail to disclose specifically treating gastrointestinal tumors.

Ara et al. disclose the general teaching that cyclooxygenase inhibitors are used in cancer therapy, specifically for tumors of the colon (pg. 3, left column and pg. 6, left column).

Therefore, it would have been prima facie obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the claimed invention was made, to have administered a compound of formula I, where X=O, R is subgroup VIA and formula Ia to treat gastrointestinal tumors.

A person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to administer a compound of formula I, where X=O, R is subgroup VIA and formula Ia to treat gastrointestinal tumors because: (1) both Del Soldato and Ara et al. are analogous art since they both disclose cyclooxygenase inhibitors; (2) Ara et al. disclose the general teaching that cyclooxygenase inhibitors are used in treating tumors of the colon; and (3) Del Soldato et al. disclose a compound of formula I, where X=O, R is subgroup VIA and formula Ia as a cyclooxygenase inhibitor. Therefore, the skilled artisan would have had a reasonable expectation of success in treating colon tumors by administering a compound of formula I, where X=O, R is subgroup VIA and formula Ia.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but found not persuasive for the reasons of record. Applicant argues nonobviousness through a showing of unexpected results through the Del Soldato Declaration filed on 10/10/2003 and again on 9/21/2007. The Declaration shows unexpected increased inhibition of precancerous cell formation in an experimental model of colon cancer by nitroderivative compounds of the presently claimed invention, as shown in Tables 1 and 2.

The Del Soldato Declaration under 37 CFR 1.132 filed 10/10/2003 and again on 9/21/2007 is insufficient to overcome the rejection of claims 1-2, 4-5 based upon Del Soldato et al. (WO 95/30641) in view of Ara et al. ("Cyclooxygenase and lipoxigenase inhibitors in cancer therapy" Prostaglandins, Leukotrienes and Essential Fatty Acids, 1996, 54, 3-16) as set forth in the last Office action because the Del Soldato Declaration simply shows that the invention as claimed works as intended. Applicant has not explained why exactly these results are unexpected or surprising. Examiner does not find these results as unexpected or surprising in view of the cited prior art, because there is no basis or foundation for the results to be unexpected. There is also no side-by-side comparison of the closest prior art. Furthermore, the Declaration is not commensurate with the scope of the claims. While the data in Tables 1 and 2 show specific dosages for the instantly claimed compound, the instant claims do not recite any dosages or amounts whatsoever.

In view of the foregoing, when all of the evidence is considered, the totality of the rebuttal evidence of nonobviousness fails to outweigh the evidence of obviousness.

Regarding the establishment of unexpected results or synergism, a few notable principles are well settled. The Applicant has the initial burden to explain any proffered data and establish how any results therein should be taken to be unexpected and significant. See MPEP 716.02 (b). It is applicant's burden to present clear and convincing factual evidence of nonobviousness or unexpected results, i.e., side-by-side comparison with the closest prior art in support of nonobviousness for the instant claimed invention over the prior art. The claims must be commensurate in the scope with any evidence of unexpected results. See MPEP 716.02 (d). With regard to synergism, a prima facie case of synergism has not been established if the data or result is not obvious. The synergism should be sufficient to overcome the obviousness, but must also be commensurate with the scope of the claims. Further, if the Applicant provides a DECLARATION UNDER 37 CFR 1.132, it must compare the claimed subject matter with the closest prior art in order to be effective to rebut a prima facie case if obviousness. See MPEP 716.02 (e).
